

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods and compositions are provided for the detection of polymorphisms utilizing pairs or sets of nucleic acid probes capable of crosslinking to: (1) the target 5 sequence via the formation of probe-target hybridization complexes; and/or (2) each other via the formation of probe-probe stem structures.